INTRODUCTION

Some people choose a leadership role or create one when they start a company. Some are asked to supervise, while others are placed in charge with little choice in the decision. Some are just natural leaders who influence others, even though they have no official title. No matter how you find yourself in this position of power, you are a leader of people.

With influence comes responsibility to do what's best for the organization and the people you lead. Others look to you to set the standard and make the tough decisions. The information found within is structured to guide you through the obligations of managing others, coaching for success and leading by example. This book contains practical tips to help you navigate your journey.

Now is the time to Set the Standard!
